Armistice Day Not a Holiday. Governor Holcomb announced on bursday that he would not proclaim Notember 11, Armistice dw, as a state holiday but would issue a statement asking that it be observed with suitable exercises in schools and by societies and organizations in the evening. The governor said the industrial and bus a sinterests of the state should not be deprived of the labor rendered on that day.

There is plenty of room at the top, but as soon as a man gets there he less labor is required in their mantries his best to ocupy it all.

Ar. Gompters urged the textile workers to gursue their aims caimly and to avoid over-reaching themselves. Referring to the employers' group at the Washington conference, while condemning their course, he laid most of the blame not on their lawyers.

"I am reliably informed" he said, "that it was the lawyers in the employers' group whe cast the majority of the votes in that group, to cast the vote of the group in conference against the declarations of labor."

He argued to the cenvention that it was useless for the labor group to continue in the conference after labor's declarations had been rejected. While the vote of the labor group could have prevented the views of the employers group bein gadopted, it could have been useless to stay in the world have been useless to stay in the world have been useless to stay in the world have been useless to stay in the error avoid over-reaching themselves.
